

Ageing Navigator Brand Guide

Brand identity and everyday usage • Version 1 • 2 October 2026

Purpose

Use this guide to keep Ageing Navigator consistent across email, the website, Action Plans, presentations and partner materials. The identity combines clear guidance with a calm, approachable appearance.

Brand role

Ageing Navigator helps older people and their families understand care and future living options, identify practical next steps and access coordination support. The brand must work across home support, retirement villages and residential care.

Identity meaning

The curved path represents different journeys and practical next steps. The directional point represents guidance. Deep teal is the main colour; gold provides a restrained accent. The name stays prominent so the logo remains readable at everyday sizes.

Name and independence

Always write Ageing Navigator, using British English spelling. Explain the ownership relationship with Home Carers transparently where relevant. Use consistent matching criteria; do not imply provider endorsement or preferential treatment.

Brand colours and typography

Colour	HEX	RGB	Use
Deep teal	#174A4B	23 74 75	Logo, headings and primary buttons
Warm gold	#C6923A	198 146 58	Small accents and highlights
Soft ivory	#F7F5EF	247 245 239	Warm page backgrounds
Slate	#263746	38 55 70	Body text and contact details
White	#FFFFFF	255 255 255	Backgrounds and reversed artwork

Colour balance

Use white or ivory for most page space, teal for identity and emphasis, and slate for longer text. Keep gold occasional. The HEX values are the digital colour specification; generated raster artwork may contain slight tonal variation.

Readable combinations

Teal on white is approximately 9.9:1; slate on white is approximately 12.2:1. Gold on white is approximately 2.8:1 and should not be used for small text. For normal website text, aim for at least 4.5:1 contrast. Avoid placing teal lettering on a dark background.

Typography

Use Poppins SemiBold for headings, Poppins Medium for short labels where available, and Poppins Regular for body text. Standard documents use 11 pt body text with single line spacing. Website body text should generally begin at 18 px and be tested with users.

Use Arial for live email-signature text when Poppins is unavailable. The wordmark is artwork: do not retype or substitute its lettering.

Logo colourways and sizes

Primary logo on white

Default for documents, email signatures and light website areas.

Primary logo with transparent background

Use on white or very light backgrounds. Transparent means no background fill; some viewers display transparency as black.

Reversed logo on teal

White lettering and symbol with a gold point on a teal background. Use for dark banners, presentation sections and branded graphics.

Export	Width	Use
Small	300 px	Simple email insertion
Medium	600 px	Display at 300 px for sharper email rendering
Large	Original resolution	Website, presentations and larger layouts

Usage and communication

Spacing and minimum size

Leave clear space around the complete logo equal to at least half the height of the capital A in Ageing. Keep other text, edges and graphics outside this area. For the full logo, use a practical minimum display width of 220 px; 260–300 px is preferred in email. Retain its aspect ratio.

Email signature

Recommended file: Ageing_Navigator_white_medium.png. Insert it at 300 px wide, preserving proportions. The transparent medium file is suitable on a confirmed light background. A white-backed version provides more predictable separation in email clients, although dark-mode behaviour still needs testing.

Keep your name, title, phone number and website as live text. Use Arial at 11–12 pt, slate for text and teal for links. Suggested order: Paul John McLaren; Founder | Ageing Navigator; phone; ageingnavigator.com. Add only confirmed contact details and clickable links. Test desktop, mobile and dark mode.

Brand voice

Write in British English. Be calm, practical, clear and respectful. Speak to older people as decision makers. Explain options and the next manageable action. Use personalised, organisation and ageing. Avoid fear-based messaging, guaranteed outcomes and unsupported authority claims.

Suitable wording: “Understand your options and identify practical next steps.” Keep the free Action Plan distinct from coordination and future paid tools. Explain professional assessment or advice requirements where relevant.

Keep the identity consistent

Do not stretch, rotate, recolour or add effects to the logo. Avoid busy photo backgrounds and low contrast. Do not attach a small tagline to the email logo. Use the supplied artwork rather than recreating it from a screenshot.

Files and future production

The logo pack contains three colourways in three sizes, all PNG. PNG is suitable for email and digital use; transparent PNG preserves an alpha channel. These are raster assets, not editable vectors. For signage, embroidery or large-format print, commission a faithful SVG master and agree printer-specific CMYK values from this digital palette.

Keep this guide and the logo pack together. Update the version date when colours, typography or approved artwork change.
